

Penn Medicine Magazine
Category 20: Magazines
Penn Medicine Communications

100-Word Summary

Penn Medicine is the magazine of Penn Medicine, which comprises the University of Pennsylvania's Perelman School of Medicine and Health System. The magazine seeks to create a sophisticated link, informing, engaging, and fostering institutional pride and loyalty. Three times a year, it brings news of the institution's advances in research (basic and clinical science), patient care, and medical education, and often provides a view of national trends from a Penn perspective. The magazine also spotlights individual professors, alumni, and students. Total print run is around 28,000, and PDFs of each issue are posted on the Penn Medicine Communications department website.